Mathematics and Statistics

The School of Mathematics and Statistics at Carleton University invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position at the rank of Assistant Professor in Applied Probability, starting January 1, 2007 or as soon as possible thereafter. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in Probability or a related area, and a strong commitment to excellence in research and teaching. The successful candidate will be expected to develop a strong, externally-funded research program, supervise students, and develop and teach undergraduate and graduate courses. The School is particularly interested in candidates who are able to connect with industry and attract non-governmental research funding. More information about the School can be found at www.math.carleton.ca.

This position is subject to final budgetary approval. Consideration of applications will begin on September 30, 2006 and continue until the position is filled. Applications (hard copies only), including a curriculum vitae, up to four sample publications, a teaching dossier and at least three letters of reference, should be sent to:
