

JOB TITLE: Assistant Professor, Statistics
Competition Number: 6305BA
Position Type: Tenure track Assistant Professor
Department: Mathematics, Physics and Engineering
Competition Closes: October 31, 2010

Description:

The Department of Mathematics, Physics, and Engineering invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level that will commence January 1, 2011. Mount Royal is seeking dynamic candidates with a focus on teaching and learning, and an interest in research, scholarly pursuits, and service.

The successful applicant will be teaching introductory and senior level courses in statistics. The courses will be service courses to nursing and other degree students. The department is looking for enthusiastic individuals who are interested in integrating technology into their teaching and are committed to participating in department activities. Course and programme development may also be expected.

New faculty are hired into one of two work patterns. The teaching/scholarship/service pattern has a focus on teaching with the requirement that the faculty member be involved in a research program as well as service to the Mount Royal community. The teaching/service pattern has a focus on teaching and service only. There is an option to change work patterns after tenure. Applicants interested in the teaching/scholarship/service pattern should have the ability and intent to pursue a research program.

Since opening in 1910, Mount Royal has embraced change in order to meet the needs of the people and community it serves. At Mount Royal students experience high quality education enhanced by smaller class sizes, personalized learning and a single-minded dedication to premier undergraduate learning. Mount Royal is known for its collegial working environment.

A Ph.D. in statistics or mathematics is required. A complete dossier including curriculum vitae, the names and contact information of three (3) references, evidence of teaching excellence, and a statement of research interests should be submitted quoting competition #6305BA to:
