

Department of Mathematics

The Department of Mathematics at Trent University invites applications for a tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor (current annual salary range $84,870 - $90,322) commencing July 1, 2016, subject to budgetary approval.

Candidates must have a completed Ph.D in Statistics or a related discipline, excellence in teaching, a strong active research program with evidence of research excellence and a strong potential to attract external funding. The successful candidate is expected to teach Statistics and Probability courses at different undergraduate levels, to maintain active scholarly activities in research and provide consulting support to researchers at other units. Information about the Department may be found at www.trentu.ca/math.

Applicants should submit a covering letter that addresses qualifications for the position, curriculum vitae, a summary of research program, a teaching dossier including course evaluations, selected reprints and any other supporting materials. Three letters of reference, of which at least one should comment on candidate's teaching, should be sent on your behalf. All materials should be submitted electronically, with files in PDF or Word format, to math@trentu.ca, attention to:

Dr. Wenying Feng
Chair, Department of Mathematics
Trent University, Peterborough, ON, K9J 7B8

The closing date for applications is December 10, 2015. Files may be submitted after this date, until the position is filled.

Trent's exceptional facilities for research and teaching are located on a beautiful 1,450-acre riverfront campus in Peterborough, Ontario, Canada. The University's satellite campus is in Durham, Ontario. Centrally located within one of Ontario's most desirable lake districts, Peterborough is just a 90-minute drive from Toronto, three hours from Ottawa, and five hours from Montreal. Our Durham campus is just 45 minutes from downtown Toronto.

Trent University is actively committed to creating a diverse and inclusive campus community and encourages applications from all qualified candidates. Trent University offers accommodation for applicants with disabilities in its recruitment processes. If you require accommodation during the recruitment process or require an accessible version of a document/publication, please contact math@trentu.ca.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority.
