

Trent University invites applications for a 12-month full-time, limited-term appointment in the Department of Mathematics at the rank of Assistant Professor. The position will start August 15, 2017, subject to budgetary approval. The successful candidate will contribute to teaching in Applied/Computational Mathematics and Statistics, including the following (tentative):

MATH 1001H (fall term) Precalculus Mathematics

MATH 3160H (fall term) Methods of Applied Mathematics

MATH 1052H-B (winter term) Non-Calculus Statistics II: Elementary Statistical Methods

MATH-COIS 3350H (winter term) Linear Programming

Two more courses at the first-year level will be taught during the summer 2018 term. The position also involves participation in the supervision of undergraduate Honours Projects.

In general, the successful applicant will be able to demonstrate a willingness to develop challenging and innovative approaches to teaching, as well as an ability to work closely with colleagues and students. Applicants should have a Ph.D in the Mathematical Sciences, undergraduate teaching experience, and an active research program.

Additional information on the Department and the University can be obtained at <http://www.trentu.ca/math>

Please send applications, including the cover letter, a curriculum vitae, a description of research and teaching interests, and arrange for three letters of reference sent to: math@trentu.ca attention:

Dr. Wenying Feng,
Chair, Department of Mathematics.

Please note that applications will only be accepted in PDF format via email.

The deadline for receipt of complete applications is May 10, 2017, or until the position is filled.

Trent University is actively committed to creating a diverse and inclusive campus community and encourages applications from all qualified candidates. Trent University offers accommodation for applicants with disabilities in its recruitment processes. If you require accommodation during the recruitment process or require an accessible version of a document/publication, please contact wfeng@trentu.ca.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority.