

Mathematical & Computational Sciences
UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO
MISSISSAUGA

The Department of Mathematical and Computational Sciences at the University of Toronto Mississauga (UTM) seeks enthusiastic and innovative teachers for two teaching stream positions at the rank of Assistant Professor, Teaching Stream, in the field of Mathematics beginning July 1, 2017.

We seek candidates who have a record of excellent teaching, who exhibit the intellectual curiosity to pursue novel and innovative methods of thinking and teaching, and who are interested in establishing a long-term teaching career with the Department.

Candidates should have a PhD in mathematics by the time of appointment or shortly thereafter.

Successful candidates must have strong endorsements from referees demonstrating both excellent teaching and evidence of commitment to pedagogical enquiry and teaching innovation. Evidence of excellence in teaching will be demonstrated through teaching accomplishments, teaching evaluations and the teaching dossier submitted as part of the application, as well as strong endorsements from referees.

Teaching duties in the undergraduate program include core courses at the first and/or second year level, as well as upper-level courses, in one of the candidate's fields of expertise. Responsibilities include undergraduate teaching, managing teaching assistants, developing course materials, and curriculum development. In addition, each faculty member has some responsibility for student recruitment and departmental administration.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Applications should include curriculum vitae, statements of career goals and teaching philosophy, a teaching dossier (to include teaching evaluations), and three to five letters of recommendation (on letterhead, signed and scanned). All application materials must be submitted online at <https://www.mathjobs.org/jobs/jobs/9173>. To receive full consideration, applications should be received by November 01, 2016.
